

KENZA

GENERAL INFORMATION

Entertaining is fundamental to the Arabian people and Kensa in the city pride themselves on hospitality and worth is measured according to how guests are treated. Whether you are a family member, friend, neighbour or an acquaintance, you will be treated with the utmost generosity when dining at Kensa. Kensa's refined home style cuisine is served with unprecedented abundance and, in the spirit of Arabian hospitality, guests will be welcomed as a family member.

Kensa's menu is a meld of Lavantine cuisine with particular emphasis on Moroccan and Lebanese food. A blend of authentic home-style cooking, traditional favourites and refined, courtly offerings, combine into a decadent exploration of Middle Eastern food culture. Mediterranean-style Lebanese dishes are showcased through an abundance of light, fresh choices and committed Moroccan food fans will be delighted with our classic tagnies. Guests can experience the delicate, earthy fare by either grazing on a vast assortment of individual mezza or via feast menus.

The music at Kensa is a fusion of influences drawn from a spectrum of lounge, world, ethnic remixes and jazzy ambient. Eastern flourishes sit effortlessly alongside contemporary classics.

Owner Tony Kitous envisioned Kensa's glamorous interior, inspired by royal Moroccan riad. Plump brocade cushions and hand painted dark wood chairs dot the lounge bar. Latticed booths – filled with hanging lamps featuring veils of multicoloured beads and tear drops of ruby glass – hug the walls. Dozens of brass khamsa hang from screens. Antique brass doors and dark woods screens cordon off the private dining area.
