

THE BELVEDERE

GENERAL INFORMATION

Dating back to the 17th century, The Belvedere was once the Summer Ballroom to the Jacobean Mansion that was Holland House. It stands, not only in the middle of one of London's most beautiful parks, but in one of capital's most fashionable areas. Offering an oasis of tranquillity, lawns, stunning flower gardens and a picturesque fountain surround it, yet is also conveniently located only minutes away from the buzz of High Street Kensington and Notting Hill

After a dramatic redesign by David Collins, The Belvedere has been re-launched to much acclaim and now offers superb cuisine in a unique location.

With its secluded location, Belvedere is perfectly suited to private parties and receptions. The design of the restaurant is very flexible and allows different sections to be reserved, to match the requirements of each event.

GROUP BOOKINGS AND EXCLUSIVE EVENTS:

There are four main areas, available in almost any combination. The ground floor is the largest area, with a tall ceiling and large picture windows, whilst the atmosphere upstairs is more intimate. The Mezzanine, adjacent to the upstairs restaurant, is perfect for smaller lunch or dinner parties and the bar downstairs works well for pre-dinner receptions.

Belvedere is idyllic for weddings, when the whole restaurant can be taken over. The reception may be held downstairs, followed by lunch or supper upstairs, in glamorous and elegant surroundings.

Exclusive Events - Weddings

Belvedere is ideally suited to private parties and receptions with its secluded location in Holland Park. Civil Ceremonies can be held in the adjoining Orangery. (Banqueting Style – 144, Cocktail Reception – 300).
