

EAST WEST

GENERAL INFORMATION

In the middle of 2003, London restaurateur Christopher Bodker, CEO of Image Restaurants (owner of The Avenue, Circus, Kensington Place and Launceston Place), persuaded celebrated Australian chef Christine Manfield to leave her native Sydney and come to London. Since then she has been tantalising London's taste buds with her unique spectrum of modern East Asian flavours at East West. With a weekly delivery of fresh produce direct from Thailand and using 400 of the finest ingredients, it is easy to be seduced by the various menus East West has to offer.

East West quickly went on to win Tatler's Best New Restaurant Award 2004. More recently the restaurant won the award for Best Menu in the Catey's, the catering industry awards. The AA has awarded East West 3 rosettes in their Rosette Award scheme which assesses a restaurant on the quality of its food.

Dinner menus encourage diners to be taken on a culinary extravaganza with three different tasting menus at £40 - Divine, Delicious, Sublime and Wicked. Wine partners with each taste are an available option. Mouthwatering dishes such as chilli fried quail eggs, caramelised coconut and watercress salad; and rare roasted venison, coconut curry sauce and chilli jam are amongst some of the delights. The dinner menus showcase original work, unique anywhere in the world.
