

Opium

GENERAL INFORMATION

Launched in November 2000, Opium is a Vietnamese restaurant and bar located on Dean Street in the heart of Soho. Designed by Paris-based Miguel Cancio Martins, (famous for the Buddha Bar, Bar Fly and Man Ray), Opium is quite simply, beautiful. It was also Miguel's first design project in this country.

Ornate wooden screens and bespoke French furniture help create the Vietnamese den atmosphere. Among the most exciting design features is the faded gold tunnel entrance leading to the principal room consisting of three pagoda type areas. The main room features relaxing bespoke sofas, a winter garden, fountain and a six foot high gold Shiva.

As Vietnam was a French outpost for many years, the food at Opium has embraced, rather than shunned, the French culinary influences, lending a distinctly 'colonial' feel to the menu. Unlike many other Oriental cuisines, the food at Opium is served in a European style as single, independent dishes, (not shared in the middle of the table), and side dishes are ordered separately. The food is extremely healthy, as less oil is used than in the cooking of other Asian cuisines.

Private Room: VIP and Restaurant areas can be cordoned off with screens to create a luxurious private environment with it's own bar for up to 130 people.

Pagoda Area: The pagoda can be hired for drink parties from Monday to Thursday with the maximum amount of people being 60.

GROUP BOOKINGS AND EXCLUSIVE EVENTS:

Opium is ideally suited for glamorous parties for up to 300 guests for exclusive hire. The venue is a perfect location for early evening drinks parties or provides a luxurious location for launches, promotions, canapé parties and photo shoots.
